AMANDA'S TAKE ON EMBRACING EDUCATIONAL TECHNOLOGY

Our studies include search engine prompts for a deeper exploration of a subject. These digital gateways opened extraordinary opportunities for students including virtual whale-watching expeditions, behind-the-scenes tours of baseball bat factories, thrilling Ferris wheel rides, and immersive journeys to destinations around the globe. The internet proved to be an invaluable learning resource for children of all ages. I loved how it creates so many wonderful learning options for my children and for yours. Most importantly, what remains at the heart of each unit study is something I consider irreplaceable: curated book lists. Books continue to be my favorite educational resource because the combination of children and quality literature creates something truly magical—lasting knowledge and a genuine love of learning that digital devices alone simply cannot replicate. Learning can be such a fascinating adventure! My commitment remains unchanged: to help students build a robust foundation of knowledge while preparing them to thrive in our dynamic, technology-rich culture.

1. It is important that a parent always supervise a child's use of search engine prompts, to help guide their learning and ensure a safe experience.
2. When your child wants to ask his/her own questions of a search engine, make sure that you help create a kid-friendly prompt, giving specific instructions to the search engine, like asking for age-appropriate answers for your child's age.

I'd like to close with a quote that really encapsulates my approach to educational technology:

"We believe every student is made in the image of God, and that shaping a soul requires more than a circuit board... Let's use technology, but never be used by it." —Dr. Kent Ingle, Southeastern University

It is a reminder that while technology can be a powerful support in education, it is the curiosity, creativity, critical thinking, and character development of our families that remain the most important parts of any meaningful learning.

And now, let's turn the page and begin this learning adventure with your child!

INTRODUCTION

By Amanda Bennett

There's so much to discover about this favorite American President! From his humble birth in a log cabin all the way to his persistent battle for freedom for all, Abraham Lincoln has become one of our most admired presidents. From shopkeeper to surveyor, soldier to country lawyer, he learned from experience and loved reading.

Children can learn volumes from people in history, and Abraham Lincoln is a good example. One of the themes of the Download N Go® 2.0 Series focuses on biographies of people that played key roles in history. Abraham Lincoln is the next title in the biography theme of this series, and I am excited to introduce this new title.

*"I will prepare and some day my chance will come."
Abraham Lincoln*

Abraham Lincoln's life was one of great adventure, varied interests, tremendous challenges, and extreme determination. These offer valuable lessons to this up and coming generation. The story of his life displays his preparation, through good and bad times, for the eventual job of president. Through the adventure quests in this study, children will be able to clearly see this as they watch the story unfold.

As you begin Abraham Lincoln, get ready for a wonderful learning adventure about a great leader and President. Your child will investigate who Lincoln was and how he spent his childhood trying to read every book that he could get his hands on. Each quest will take them on an exploration of different areas of his life and character. As they progress through the quests, they will create and complete learning components to add to their Abraham Lincoln lapbook—building a wonderful reminder of all that they are learning and a lasting memento to be enjoyed for years to come.

With the new Download N Go® 2.0 unit studies, you are beginning a unique kind of learning experience. Each study has a group of adventure quests to explore, each offering lapbook components to add to the growing Abraham Lincoln lapbook. The name, Download N Go®, comes from the commitment that these studies are ready to use as soon as you download them. There is no preparation or waiting time required to begin the adventure quests. A few inexpensive items are needed for the lapbook—a simple file folder, a glue stick, safety scissors, brass brads, and crayons or markers. That's it—simple, effective, and what a way to learn!

From learning about Lincoln's childhood and family, to getting a taste of American history, this is going to be an exciting adventure. Your child will be answering questions that include:

Who was Abraham Lincoln?

What kind of education did he have?

What did he do when he first left his father's home?

Why is the Gettysburg Address so important?

Get ready for a great learning adventure, and thanks for spending time with us to learn about this great American, Abraham Lincoln!

RESOURCES

Here are some of the books that complement this unit study. You do not need them all—just try to find a few that sound interesting for your students. I include quite a variety of titles, because everyone’s library or bookstore has different collections of books on topics, and hopefully these titles will help give you ideas and direction.

Unit study tip: When working on unit studies, it can be so helpful to take a laundry basket and redefine its purpose—it will now become the unit study/library book basket! This way, the books are easier to locate when you need them, and it really does become a habit after a while. Read on!

INTRODUCTION TO LAPBOOKING

By Laura Clark

What exactly is a lapbook? A lapbook is an exciting, hands-on learning tool. Using a few inexpensive items—a simple file folder, a glue stick, safety scissors, brass brads, and crayons or markers—your child builds a wonderful keepsake to capture some of the lessons learned during this Download N Go® 2.0 study.

Each Download N Go® 2.0 unit study includes creative and colorful lapbooking templates ready for you and your child to print, cut out, and complete together. Download N Go® 2.0 lapbooking components are integrated with the daily lesson and reinforce what your child learns, using hands-on activities. With Download N Go® 2.0 lapbook-ing components, your child will make pop-ups, vocabulary mini books, accordion timelines, pamphlet graphs, and so much more.

Lapbooks can be assembled in several ways; the elements fit together like pieces of a puzzle, attached to the file folder. One option is to have your child complete each lapbook component as it is encountered in the lesson and store them in an envelope for assembly at the end of the study. Another option is to glue each component in the lapbook as the activity is completed. Either way, your child will love this amazing, handmade lapbook.

Abraham Lincoln loved to read.

Search Engine Prompt: I am ___ years old. What were some of Abraham Lincoln's favorite books when he was growing up? Write your answer below.

*Instruct the wise and they will be wiser still;
teach the righteous and they will add to their learning.*

Proverbs 9:9

Abraham Lincoln learned math by using what they called a "Book of Sums" where he would write answers to math problems. One little poem that he wrote in his Book of Sums is now quite famous, and it shows us a little bit of the fun that he liked to have.

Search Engine Prompt: I am ___ years old. What is the famous poem Abraham Lincoln wrote in his "Book of Sums"?

Copy it in the box below.

An open book with aged, yellowish pages. In the center, there is a white rectangular area containing seven horizontal black lines, intended for writing the answer to the search engine prompt above.

Abraham Lincoln loved to read, and books were a rare treasure when he was a child. When he was young, he borrowed a book from a neighbor, and while he was reading it, the book was damaged.

Search Engine Prompt: I am __ years old. What is the story about Abraham Lincoln and the book he borrowed from a neighbor and how it accidentally got damaged? Then answer the questions below.

Wright Brothers

Search Engine Prompt: I am __ years old. What did Abraham do to pay for the damaged book?

Search Engine Prompt: I am __ years old. What did Abraham Lincoln say when the neighbor's wife asked him what he wanted to be?

Through this borrowed book, President Washington inspired young Abe Lincoln to follow the dream of becoming president. Today, it is Lincoln's life story that is inspiring children, teaching them about leadership, working hard to reach a goal, and honesty in all things.

Add this What I Know About Abraham Lincoln flap book to your lapbook.

Plenty of things would change in America during the life of Abraham Lincoln. From the way that people lived to the way they travelled, big changes were about to happen, and one of the changes began the day before Lincoln was born!

Until that time, people and goods moved across the ocean and up and down rivers by sailboats, rowboats, or flatboats. People or the wind had to do the work to move the boats. However, Robert Fulton patented an invention that would change the way that people in the United States travelled on the day before Lincoln was born, February 11, 1809. What did he create? Circle the correct choice below.

Search Engine Prompt: I am __ years old. What did Robert Fulton create?

Just for Fun

Paper was hard to find and very expensive when Lincoln was a boy, so he used “shingles” of wood to write down his ideas, things he was trying to learn, and more. A wood shingle, in those days, was a piece of wood that was split off of a bigger piece of wood, probably from the woodpile. To see what it might have been like to write on wood, try it for yourself! Using a low temperature glue gun and craft sticks, make your own “wood shingle” and then try writing your name and address on it!

FUN FAMILY IDEAS

1. If you are using the study during the celebration of Abraham Lincoln's birthday in February, plan a party! Invite your friends and family for the celebration. Make a patriotic cake, and bring out the lapbooks that you are creating to show what the children have accomplished. Consider memorizing and reciting the Gettysburg Address for your guests. If you have any patriotic decorations that you can bring out from past Fourth of July celebrations, decorate the house. Don't forget the birthday candles! Search Engine Prompt: I am __ years old. What is a Patriotic Cake Recipe for Kids?
2. Genealogy can be such an interesting area for children to explore. Use this opportunity to work together to find out the names of some family ancestors that lived when Abraham Lincoln was President of the United States. Having done this myself, it is amazing to find out the names of real people that lived when he did—where they lived and the names of their family members. With the advent of the Internet, you don't have to be an expert to do this, and sites like Google can be very helpful. Just begin with the full name of a grandparent or great grandparent, and you might be surprised at how much is available.
3. Depending on where you live, the history of your state and town might go back as far as Lincoln's presidency. Visit the library as a family and check with your local librarian to learn about some of the history of your area. If there is a local museum, plan a visit and enjoy a fun day of learning. Have the children find out when your county and state were founded.
4. If your children are interested in learning more about Abraham Lincoln, consider planning a trip to one or more of the places he lived or memorials built to honor him. Many of these sites have been preserved, and have a museum on location for visitors. Here are just a few of the websites for some Abraham Lincoln museums and memorials:

5. Keep an eye out for upcoming Civil War Days or Reenactments in your part of the country. These can be exciting places to learn and ask questions about the daily life of soldiers during the Civil War.

Search Engine Prompt: I am ___ years old. Where can I find Civil War Anniversary and Civil War Events near me?

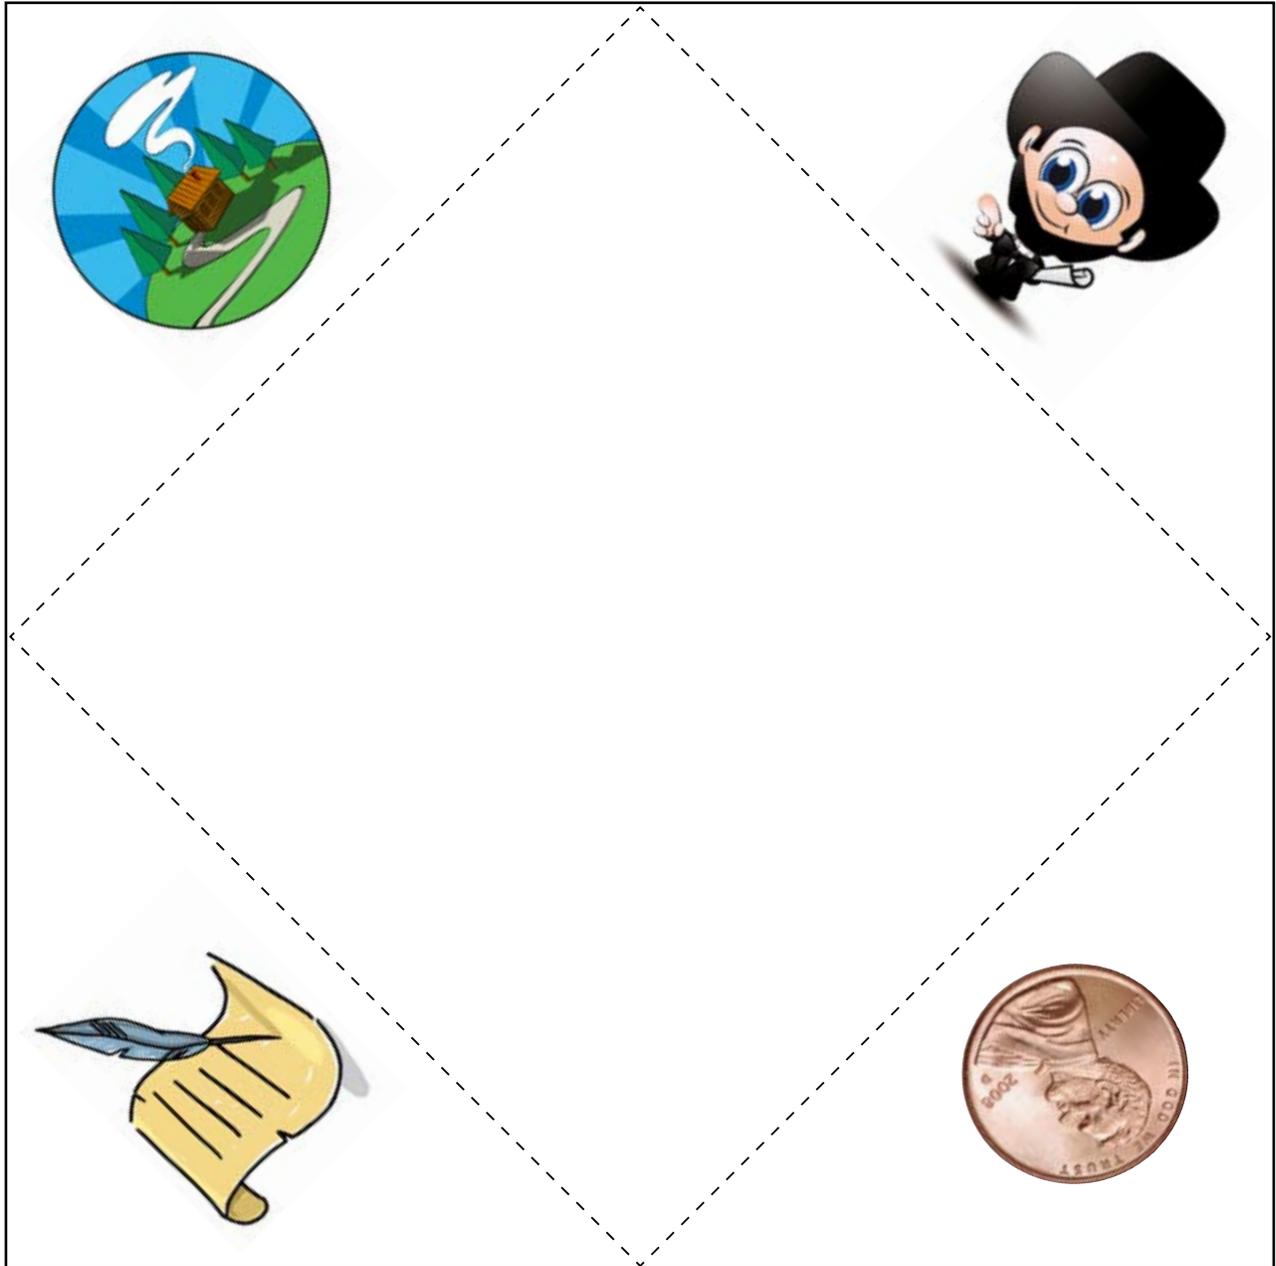

6. Plan a trip to visit one or more of the places important in the Civil War. As students learned in this study, the Civil War began right after Abraham Lincoln became President of the United States.

Search Engine Prompt: I am ___ years old. Please list Civil War Sites and Battle Sites by State.

Purchasing, downloading and installing DNG Products constitutes the User's agreement to the terms of this paragraph, as well as a representation and warranty that the User is not located in, under the control of or a resident of any such country or territory.

9. Equitable Remedies. All Users hereby agree that Licensor would be irreparably damaged if the terms of this License Agreement were not specifically enforced, and further agree that Licensor shall be entitled to file for, request and obtain any and all available legal and/or equitable remedies to prevent, enforce and redress breaches of this License without bond, security, or proof of damages, even if similar damages would not be available to the opposing party. In the event litigation is brought in connection with this License Agreement, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover from the other party all the costs, attorneys' fees and other expenses incurred by such prevailing party in the litigation. A party need not recover an award of money damages to be considered a "prevailing party" for purposes of this paragraph.

10. Modifications. Licensor reserves the sole, discretionary right to update, modify or change this License and Other Applicable Agreements at any time, with or without cause or advance notice. Updates, changes, modifications, additions, supplements and deletions to and from the terms and conditions of this License and Other Applicable Agreements are effective upon implementation. Downloading, installing and using DNG Products following changes to the License or Other Applicable Agreements constitutes the User's acceptance of any and all such changes.

11. General Terms. This License, together with any Other Applicable Agreements, represents the only, final, complete and exclusive understanding between User(s) and Licensor and supersedes any prior or contemporaneous oral or written agreements. In the event of any conflict or disagreement between this License and Other Applicable Agreements, the terms of this License will control. User and Licensor have no relationships, agreements, and User has no rights relating to DNG Products, except as expressly stated in this License. This License may only be modified by a written instrument approved in writing or executed by an authorized representative of Licensor which specifically states that it modifies this License. This License was written in and will be construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas. User agrees to submit to the personal jurisdiction of the Federal or state courts located in Texas for purposes of any legal action commenced under or arising out of this License, Other Applicable Agreements or applicable laws, as well as actions arising out of or relating to any DNG Products. Nothing in this License will be interpreted to require the commission of an illegal act or a violation of applicable law. If any conflict arises between this License and applicable law the law will prevail, the relevant provisions of the License will be deleted, modified or limited to the extent necessary to comply with law and all other provisions of the License will remain in full force and effect. Notices must be made in writing. Licensor may provide valid, effective notice to Users by posting or broadcasting notices on Licensor's website or related websites owned and operated by either or both Licensors. Notices posted on websites are deemed given when posted. Failure to enforce any provision of this License does not and will not constitute a waiver of the right to enforce the same or any other provision against the same or any other User or third party in any subsequent situation. Any provisions which are reasonably required in order to fully enforce this License will survive its termination. All rights reserved.

12. Acceptance by User. Each User understands and agrees to each and every one of the terms of this License and Other Applicable Agreements as if the User had signed a written document containing the same. Click here to return to the Abraham Lincoln Adventures Quests page.
